Your American Red Cross

Fund Drive Opens Mar. 1

This Sunday across the nation Americans will hear, on radio and television, the President of the United States proclaim the month of March American Red Cross Month. During the next four and a half weeks Red Cross workers will make their appeal for funds.

Here, in Carmel the chairman, the team captains and their teams are ready to go into action. That Carmel is justifiably proud of its Red Cross Chapter and its accomplishments is all part of a story that began before Carmel was incorporated as a city.

It was in 1961 that Miss Dorothy James, Carmel Chapter American Red Cross executive secretary, and Miss Helen Heavey, executive secretary for two decades, wrote the history of our Carmel Red Cross. They also recorded the history of our ambulance — a story of community service and dedication that is without duplicate. The dual history was published by the late Wilma Cook, editor and co-owner two decades. Mrs. Cook succumbed to a heart attack, Oct. 18, 1961. Her loyalty to Carmel that came shining through her newspaper gave to the Pine Cone files of today a history of Carmel, its citizens and community progress.

During the next five weeks we will re-print the story of your American Red Cross, Carmel Chapter, as it was published in the Carmel Pine Cone in 1961.

Since 1961 there have been tremendous strides in service in our local Chapter. What has happened in the sunny Chapter Headquarters and in the Fire House where volunteers of our Fire Department keep and operate the Red Cross Ambulance will be told by those who know it best.

Officers of the Carmel Chapter, American Red Cross are: August H. Johnson, Chairman; Carl Bosholt, 1st vice-chairman; David Wilson, 2nd vice-chairman; F. K. Duhring, treasurer and head of the Disaster Committee and

Capt. Cooper School

Site To Be Sold

The Board of Education of the Carmel Unified School District, at its Feb. 26 meeting, unanimously passed a resolution for the recommended sale of the old Capt. Cooper School site. The buyer is the California State Division of Beaches and Parks, the price, as appraised by the State Property Acquisition Service, $13,000. The State Allocation Board is withholding about $4,000 needed for equipment for the new Capt. Cooper School, pending receipt of the monies from the old site. In other action the board accepted a low bid of $5,388 submitted by the Stephen G. Magyar Co. of Monterey, for the acoustical tiling of the Junior High School gymnasium. The walls and ceiling will be covered with the tile for sound control.

Administrative reports included one by Mrs. Anna Kohner on the program for academically talented students. In this district, grades 4-12, representing 7% of the enrollment, the national normal is 2%. Her first recommendation to help this program, and all students in the district, was that of expanded library facilities in all the schools.

Katherine Holmgren, in charge of the remedial reading program, gave a report on that program in which 66 children are participating at this time.

Sight Clinic For Pre-Schoolers Today

Mrs. Dexter Whitcomb, chairman of the Sight Testing Clinic for Pre-school Children, endorsed by the Monterey Branch of the Society for the Prevention of Blindness, announces 18 new volunteer workers who attended last week's two-day clinic, conducted in Monterey by Mrs. Burnetta Downing, California executive of the Society.

The volunteers will work in teams of seven. There will be several teams in action the first Thursday of each month 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Monterey Public Library, testing the eye sight of children up to six years of age.

Attending Mrs. Downing's training course and signing up as volunteer workers, in the Library Clinic and in Nursery Schools on the peninsula, were: Mesdames William Hubbard, George Leutzinger, Marvin Inman, Paul Porter, Don Hodgson, Albert Miller; also, Mesdames E. W. Fuhrman, G. G. Lefler, Thomas D'Angelo, Dale Leidig, B. V. McMenamin, John Morse, Patrick North, Kenneth White, Everett Heisinger, George Marston, Robert Taylor and Walter Stuefloten.

The Clinic services are open to all children, from infancy to six years of age. The service is given without charge.

Sunset Site Purchase Termed 'Feasible'

A representative of the firm of Stone and Youngberg, was in Carmel last Tuesday to report that the plan of the city to buy the Sunset School site, for possible use for the site of a Music and Arts Center, was quite feasible. The full report will be presented to the city council at the regular meeting next Wednesday night.

A spokesman for the city said it was conceivable that the matter would be placed before the voters of Carmel at the general municipal election which will be held on April 14.

By Harry the Fletcher

No. 44

Too many futile thoughts encroach upon an active mind; I think of spring and fish and boats, and work gets left behind. I also dream of female lures, of girls who spark and play — a melody with no known cures — and no help on the way.

I got myself involved in dreams these many years ago, when as a wayward kid, it seems, I wandered to and fro between pursuing hot and hard a life of crime and vice, or joining up with Scotland Yard and putting crooks on ice.

I've learned a lot of things since then, how humans aim too high, with nothing but frustration when we tumble from the sky. It's better far to try for less and scale a modest height than flop within a self-made mess and flounder out of sight.

I never made the copper's ranks, nor trod the gangster's trail, or held up very many banks — at things like these I'd fail. The only place I ever showed a talent worth a fry is sitting down beside the road and watch the girls go by.

DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MASEFIELD

CARMEL CORINTHIANS TAKE IT ALL

Jon Konigshofer of Carmel, an old hand at ocean racing, crossed the finish line off the Monterey breakwater at 0136 Sunday morning in his L36 sloop "WILL WIND" winning the annual An Nuevo sailing race. There were nine boats entered and participating in this gruelling encounter. Boats from three of the membership clubs making up the MONTEREY BAY YACHT RACING ASSOCIATION started. They were light from the start until the boats were off Santa Cruz when the wind picked up and caused many of the boats to call it a day. Konigshofer did not have things his own way in any means, as Jim Womble in his L36 sloop "SAYONARA" finished a narrow two minutes astern of the "WILLWIND", taking second place and giving another Carmel boater a place in the winners circle. Finishing third was Pat Patterson in "PIP" his 24-foot Columbia Challenger, a new boat hereabouts. PIP was well offshore most of the time and was taking in reefs or shaking them out all night. PIP was the first and only small boat to finish. We will hear more about this class and Pat before this season is over. So, there you have it Konigshofer, Womble and Patterson, our own Carmel corinthians finishing one-two-three. Well done, skippers.

PROSPECTIVE BOATERS EAGER TO LEARN

I have over the last week received some questions from readers of the PINE CONE who are either boaters or those who would be boaters. I would be glad to answer questions. I would suggest your sending any inquiries to the paper and they will pass them along.

OUR MARINA

The marina is almost four years old. If there ever was an unwanted child by most Monterey-ans it was this same marina. I will not go on record and say that this is a fine marina as marinas go, but I will say the interest in pleasure boating, both old and power, hereabout has reached pretty high peaks. We have many enthusiastic weekenders who spend countless pleasant hours in their boats upon or small. The lure of the sea upon us. We have a dedicated man of the sea as our Harbor Master, Brooks Bowhay, given enough authority he will make his a going concern.

AT THE BOAT'S HOIST

Things were buzzing at Frank Cefalu's Hoist and snack bar. Lots of boats launched and retrieved over the weekend. Lots of salmon on as yet very small. Too early, Frank's place is the clearing house for all news of the marina. The yachtsfolk gravitate to this place the same as the old tars haunted the waterfront bars on San Francisco's Embarcadero years ago. How good a hamburger and a cup of joe taste when you come into the lee from a cold, Noreaster.

WEATHERWISE

Because we are in the very center of a high pressure area extending well offshore, we can expect clear weather through Friday at least, with winds of 25 knots or more from noon to sunset both days, Friday and Saturday. Tuesday a weak front passed over us but was not husky enough to dampen us down. There is a trough of low pressure well offshore that should come ashore in the Northwest area Friday night and this will be our only chance of rain Saturday afternoon, say about a 40% chance. Except for offshore sailing Friday and Saturday should have the kind of weather the boater likes, especially the rag men.

Wind IN THE Pines

BY

Genial Ted Fearing is still recovering from a sad experience that happened to him last week.

Y'see there's this coffee-break crowd that collects every morning at Nikko's at about 10:30 to wait until the mail is put into the boxes. To increase the interest at these gatherings, some soul invented a means of passing around the pleasure of paying for the java. By means of this clever system, two people are involved in selecting the lucky recipient of this honor.

Well, it seems that Ted got stuck for ten cups one day last week. Then the next day a record crowd of 14 showed up and once again Ted was similarly honored. Some guys have all the luck.

I spoke to Bob Spencer the other day just after he was released from the hospital, following an operation. He's doing fine and the operation was a complete success, he said.

Bob did have one complaint, though. Seems his doctor gave instructions to the hospital staff that he was to have no wine with his meals.

He spoke to the dietician about the absence of spirits fermenti on the tray when they brought his evening repast. She promised results. Sure enough, the next night when the cover was removed from his delectables, they were accompanied by a glass of ruby-red gloom-buster.

The nurse took one look at it and said, "What's that doing there?" or words to that effect, and took it away, leaving Bob more gloomy than ever.

Any time you have a 72-hour ocean race, won finally by two minutes, you have had a pretty good finish for that race. Congratulations to Harvey Kilpatrick and Jim Womble on their gaining second place behind Jon Konigshofer.

By far the most interesting performance of the race, though, was that of George Yates. No pounding around in any wet cockpit for him. Nossir! George figured damp derrieres were out of season and went for a ride on the Coast Guard Cutter Ewing. He said he watched the radar.

The Art Plaxtons and the Don

Browns are building a special kind of a house up in the Knolls. The Browns (Mrs. B. is the daughter of Art and Dorothy) have four extremely active children. They have been living with the Plaxtons and seem to be managing to get along without anybody going to the loony bin so far.

Having a captive architect in the family helps, so they got Don to design a house that would give everybody privacy yet still stay

His work for the Ph.D. degree included field expeditions to Eastern Tibet. In 1925, he joined the

In 1948, Dr. Agnew accepted appointment to Baylor University. He later joined the faculty of the School of Dentistry of the University of California.

Security To Open Monterey Branch

James J. Saxon, Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D. C., yesterday announced the granting of a charter to the Security National Bank of Monterey County to open a banking office in downtown Monterey.

This will be the fourth branch granted during the past 18 months to the bank. In August, 1962, Security State Bank of Pacific Grove converted into the Security National Bank of Monterey County, which will now operate a total of five banks on the Monterey Peninsula.

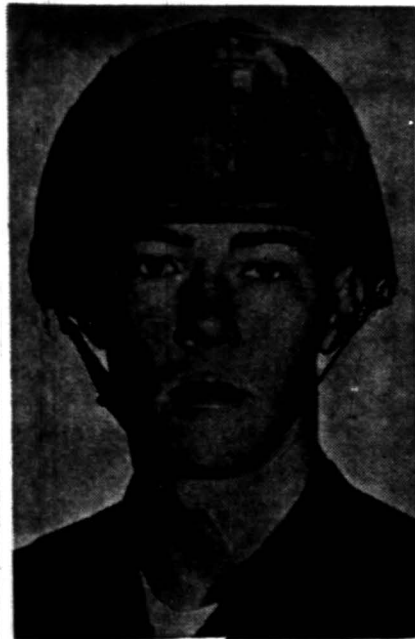

William A. Burkett, President, stated that authorization had also been received to move the bank's main office activities to the new banking quarters in Monterey. He said that for sentimental reasons the board of directors and the stockholders will continue to use the bank's board room at Pacific Grove, where the bank was founded in 1889.

Burkett said that a Monterey site will not be selected until suitable parking facilities can be obtained in the downtown area. He said that the bank will continue its Early American decor of the "good old days" of the bank's Pacific Grove, Carmel, Marina and Seaside offices, and their old-fashioned policy of no service charges for accounts with a minimum balance of $500. Burkett said that the new Monterey main office will remain open Saturday mornings and will maintain its unusual banking hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily.

Since Burkett became president of the bank in April, 1961, the total deposits have increased by over 300 per cent.

Eleven thousand new shares of stock will be issued at $26.00 per share to increase the capital for the Monterey office, Burkett said. Last July, 6,000 new shares were offered to permit the establishment of the Seaside branch, but over 78,000 shares were subscribed for. The new stock is to be sold only to depositors of the bank.

Kennedy's Grand Design Upheld in Discussion Group

"Great Decisions" groups, meeting last week, in the second of the 1964 eight-weeks series, discussed what policies the U.S. should adopt toward French President deGaulle and how much, if any, sharing of atomic weapons should be done with the other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

A tabulation of ballots filed today with the Discussion Center shows a 92 per cent desire to see discussions with deGaulle continued in the hope of finding the widest possible areas of agreement and minimizing differences.

Two-thirds of the ballots were for pressing ahead for realization of the Grand Design envisioned by the late President Kennedy, and do this despite deGaulle's opposition. A two-thirds opinion was also expressed for continuing to maintain the U.S. veto over the use of nuclear weapons controlled by NATO.

Nobody would abandon the grand design, nor modify its ideas to make them acceptable to deGaulle, and nobody would help France achieve an independent nuclear deterrent or help other NATO nations achieve independent nuclear deterrents if they wish to develop them.

Audubon Soc. Film Tomorrow Night

"Our Changing Heritage" is the topic to be presented by Emerson Scott tomorrow night in the Sunset Auditorium. Mr. Scott of Carp, Michigan, takes us on a tour of the magnificent west as we follow a herd of domestic sheep through their various grazing grounds during the four seasons. What vital changes are being wrought by man? How much and what part of our land should we leave untouched? This film deals with the question of preserving our wilderness areas.

Emerson Scott is an experienced outdoorsman and also an especially talented wildlife photographer. Interested in furthering the conservation of animals and birds and preservation of nature's wild beauty, he uses his color motion pictures to achieve that goal.

In his boyhood Mr. Scott lived on a farm near Caro, Michigan. His travels have taken him over much of the globe, but Caro is still his home. He attended George Williams College in Chicago and later worked for the YMCA, taking time out to make two trips to Alaska.

California is the third largest state in the printing and publishing field.

Zanides Gives Star Performance At Circle In Pirandello's Henry IV

With the opening of Pirandello's "Henry IV" at the Circle, Carmel's theatre-in-the-round, last Friday night, producer Frederick Rider and his co-producer, Nick Zanides, who played the title role, earned for themselves and for their theatre praise that can only be expressed in superlatives.

In electing to present Pirandello's tragic fantasy, Mr. Rider must have faced the hazards of its limited 'audience appeal' and the fact that Pirandello demands intellectual feats not only of his actors, but of the on-lookers; that scrambling (or leaping) through centuries is essential, on both sides of the footlights is the basic appeal of "Henry IV." Whether Pirandello's play is historic, or poetic fiction, is unimportant. The playwright tells a story of a 'modern' man who, at a tragic point in his life, escapes, back, 'round the curve of time' a thousand years and in his 'madness' reeks vengeance upon those contemporaries of the present day who had embittered his soul.

Nick Zanides in one of the most difficult roles in the history of the theater, in his transitions from 11th century madness to 20th century lucidity and vitriolic scorn, is superlative. His characterization, his rendition of perilously long speeches, his gesturing, were through every moment in flawless control of an actor of the highest echelon in today's theater. When he could so easily have slipped into melodramatic ranting, Mr. Zanides delivered his tragic lines with chilling precision. When he might have 'relaxed' in his fleeting moments as the contemporary man, he remained the character of inner turmoil.

In his magnificent cloth-of-gold robe, with his curled hair and rouged cheeks accenting the 'insane' glitter of his dark eyes, the "King" had a decadent beauty that added much to his performance, as did Barbara Tripp's candlelit eerie setting of a century long gone.

In giving highest praise to the star performance of Zanides there is no intention of dulling the honors due Marcia Hovick who played her dual role of the titled virgin and the vicious whore, protected from verbal approbrium by her social status. Miss Hovick's insight into Pirandello's Donna Matilda Spina brings to the Circle stage a characterization long to be remembered — with very real mental shivers.

Frederick Rider, in modern dress and in priest's robes, played his role with masterly understatement and an assurance that only a seasoned actor can accomplish.

In the supporting roles, the golden haired "Frida" played by Penelope Nesbitt, was a delight, her youthful innocence shining through the decadence of her companions.

Michael Monnich gave conviction and just the soupcon of sophistication to his role of the "Marquis Di Nolli" that was demanded in the play's structure.

As the only completely 'sane' contemporary man in the story, Ron Martin's "Dr. Genoni" was at times exasperating and at all times convincing in his 20th century psychology and logic.

The five servitors, played by Robert Krajenke, Irving Rogers, Tom Arnold, Terry Poland and Antony Thomas reflected the excellence of Mr. Rider's direction. They carried much of Pirandello's explanation of his drama with conviction and ease.

Costuming, by Ted Huffman, was a triumph. Nick Zanides and his Lady (Marcia Hovick) might indeed have stepped from the gilded frames of a glittering saga of the past. Particularly dramatic was Miss Hovick's transition. In her modern dress she was ultra-smart, as the love of the King, she was a dazzling "double" of her life-size portrait. The two panel portraits focal point of the stage set were created by Thornton Harby Studios.

In conclusion, . . . if you find yourself confused as to the sequence in "Henry IV" — don't let it deter you from seeing one of the finest plays ever to be produced in Carmel. You undoubtedly will go home, . . . confused. You will probably rush for your encyclopedia or any other history reference volumes you may own, and add to your confusion. But you will have the satisfaction of having enjoyed an evening of top-form theater.C.E.

York Shop Sale Earns $1300

Mrs. Barbara Dormody, manager of the York Shop on Cannery Row, a re-sale shop whose earnings go to the York Episcopal School, currently fund raising for the enlargement of its Laguna Seca campus, is jubilant these days. Last week's "Sidewalk Extravaganza" (sidewalk sale) added $1300 to the school's fund and attracted in excess of 200 shoppers to the tiny emporium which is crowded with unique 'buys' as well as fashions, new and next-to-new.

No Husbands Sold At Leap Year Sale

Everything from brand new items to rummage; in fact, just about anything except bridegrooms will be auctioned, sold or given away on Leap Year Day by the Church in the Round, according to Mrs. Peter J. Wangec, spokesman for the event. The sale will take place at the American Legion Hall, Dolores and High on Saturday, Feb. 29 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Even if none are up for auction, certainly many items should help catch—or hold—a husband. Especially effective should be the many donations from Carmel shops, which include new clothes, such as sweaters and scarves, and items like beauty aids, jewelry, credit at service stations and free restaurant meals. Those attending should be pleased to learn that cakes, cookies and other bakery goods also will be for sale, to be taken home or eaten on the spot to accompany the coffee which will be served. Auctions and door prizes will add further interest to the day's activities.

Proceeds from the Leap Year Day sale will go to the building fund of the Church in the Round for the proposed church and community center on Carmel Hill.

Biff Smith Battered But Un-Bowed

Bain Smith, son of the Raymond M. Smiths, known as Stanford, to his family, his pals at Stanford and his current lady friends (of whom there are several) will not be at his cousin's wedding reception on Saturday (see Friedes-Felton wedding, pg. 5). Because, alas, Biff will undergo surgery today in Community Hospital when surgeon C. Arthur Spaulding, Jr., will "weld" Biff's shoulder bones back where they belong.

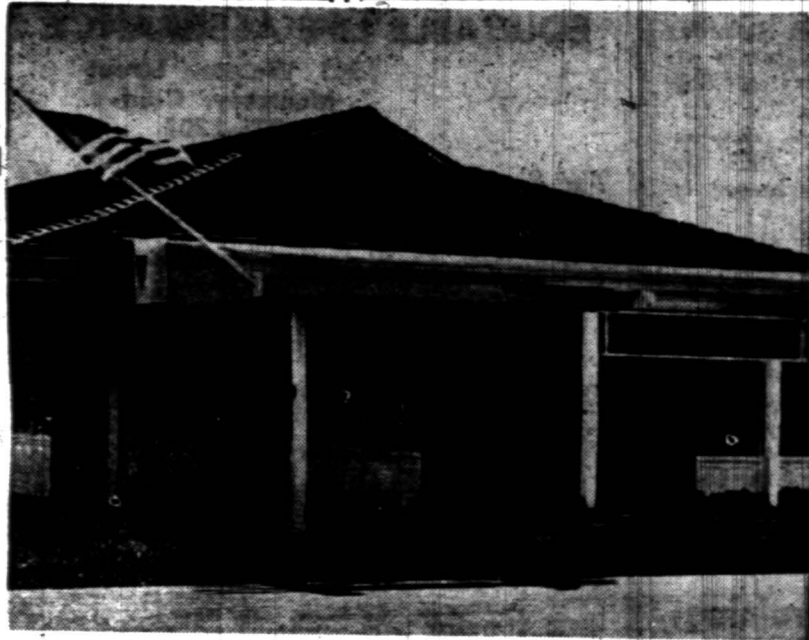

On Feb. 2, Biff, enjoying his mid-year freedom from the grind at Stanford was off to Sausalito with fellow student Carey Marshall of San Francisco. Somehow Biff managed to guide Carey's Vespa in the wrong direction and came up against a solid structure. He suffered head fractures as well as a seriously damaged shoulder and has been hospitalized ever since.

However, valiant and irrepressible as ever, Biff can still and will talk and listen. After tomorrow, Biff's friends are urged to wend their way to Community Hospital to chat about — his operation, of course! It would be wise to give the hospital a call first, to be sure he's not taking a nap.

Leaving Carmel To Live In Albuquerque

With mixed feelings of regret and happy anticipation, Mrs. Katherine Parkhurst Keene, resident of Carmel for the past seven years, will leave next week to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Reginald Gregory, and her family, in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Mrs. Keene was a Carmelite, in spirit, long before she arrived here to live, in 1957. She is a niece of the late Thomas Shrewsbury Parkhurst, one of Carmel's pioneer artists, whose studio high over the sea, was the first in Carmel Highlands. Mr. Parkhurst arrived in Carmel in 1917, he was a contemporary and close friend of the late William Ritschel, DeNeale Morgan, Arthur Hill Gilbert and Abel Warshawsky.

Upon arriving in Carmel, Mrs. Keene immediately became active in community life and gave much of her time to civic movements. One of her prized gifts, Mrs. Keene tells, is a canvass by her late uncle "Moonlight Over the Pacific" presented to her by Mrs. Jeanie Klenke, sister of De Neale Morgan, who discovered the painting in her sister's collection of works by early Carmel artists.

Completing the month-long show, another exhibit will consist of various articles of pottery made by students in the Montalvo ceramics classes, instructed by Dr. Herbert Sanders, who also is a member of the San Jose State College art faculty.

On Sunday, Mar. 8 at 2:30, Nelson will give a free lecture in Montalvo's Carriage House Theatre, detailing the work and travel involved in assembling the collection of art which will be on display. The galleries are also free to the public every day except Monday, when the center is closed to all visitors. Hours are 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Gilbert Stuart, famed 18th century painter, will be represented by his Portrait of William Windham, Englishman; and two from the 19th century will be Robert Moran's Autumn in the Rockies, and Robert Henri's Spanish Girl From Segovia.

American contemporary art will feature Charles Dana Gibson's Girl in Riding Habit, John Hillton's Desert Scene, and Jimmy Swinnerton's Mexican Home By the River.

Colorlogue at Carmel Woman's Club

At the regular first-of-the-month meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club on Mar. 2, a delightful film program entitled "On the Road to Mandalay" will be narrated by William Moore of New York, formerly with the Technicolor and Tiffany Films.

During the World War II, Mr. Moore made a documentary of the construction of United States Air Bases throughout the world and together with his associate, Curtis Nagel, literally photographed the globe. Their Colorlogues have zoomed to prominence on the American lecture platform.

"The Road to Mandalay" includes spectacular pictures and descriptions of exotic places, people and their customs in Singapore, Bangkok, Rangoon and Mandalay.

In the absence of Mrs. Romona C. Gahl, Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. Ray Esplen will have charge of the refreshments immediately following the lecture.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Wendell Coates, Mrs. Anderson M. Cannon, Mrs. E. M. Davis and Mrs. Lucile Nelson. Pouring at the urns will be Mrs. James Durage, Mrs. Frank A. Haywood, Mrs. H. M. Wight and Mrs. V. R. Woodruff.

"Firsts" On Mar. 10 Symphony Program

Three Monterey County Symphony "firsts" have been scheduled by conductor John Gosling for the orchestra's next concerts in Salinas and Carmel on March 9 and 10 respectively. Starting times will be 8:15 at the Salinas High School Auditorium, and 8:30 p.m. at Carmel's Sunset Auditorium.

The program will commence with the world premiere of John Cage's "Suite for Toy Piano", which was orchestrated especially for the local orchestra by composer Lou Harrison. It will be followed by Debussy's "Three Nocturnes", which will feature a 120 voice female chorus including the women of the Monterey Peninsula College Community Chorus and the Santa Catalina Girls

County Planning Council at Asilomar

Final plans for the Monterey Co. Planning Council's third annual conference at Asilomar on Saturday are complete. The success of the two previous conferences are indicated by the early registrations coming into the Monterey County Planning Department from planners and interested citizens.

This year's conference will be held entirely in the central auditorium of the chapel with all of the delegates participating. Panels on Responsibilities of a Planning Commissioner and Planning Law Review will be held in the morning starting at 9:40 a.m.

These will be followed by the keynote speaker at 12:00 noon. The Planning Council was particularly fortunate in getting D. E. McHenry, Chancellor of the University of California at Santa Cruz to speak on Planning a University in the Monterey Bay Area.

Afternoon panels on Recreation and on Power Planning in residential areas promise to be of interest to the delegates.

Chorus. The Girls Chorus will be making its first appearance with the orchestra.

Also scheduled on the program is the local debut of the brilliant young American pianist, Bela Szilagi. Mr. Szilagi, recipient of numerous awards, and a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music is one of the few outstanding Leventritt Award finalists chosen to concertize under Leventritt auspices. He was selected by a board of judges that included such notable musicians as Leonard Bernstein, Rudolf Firkusny, George Szell, Rudolf Sekin, Isaac Stern, Eugene Istomin, Gary Graffman, Leopold Mannes, Alexander Schneider and Alfred Wallenstein. Mr. Szilagi will be heard with the Monterey County Symphony in a performance of Schumann's A Minor Piano Concerto.

Symphony officials report that tickets for the Carmel performance are at a premium and ask that season ticket holders who may be unable to attend, turn in their tickets for resale. Seats are still available for the Salinas performance, and tickets can be obtained at Gadsbys Music Co., Salinas.

The public is invited to attend and participate in the discussion following each of the panels. James Watson, Chairman of the Monterey County Planning Council urges those attending the conference to register as early as possible although registrations will be accepted at Asilomar. Registration fee is $3.00 which includes lunch in the dining room at the conference grounds. Checks should be sent to E. W. DeMars, Secretary of the Planning Council at P. O. Box 1208, Salinas.

● The Board of Directors of the Carmel Woman's Club held its annual luncheon for new members received into the club during the past year, today.

LAW IN ACTION

LOST AND FOUND

The other day Pete Sneak found John Jones' wallet together with three blank checks drawn on his bank.

Pete's luck ran out soon afterwards: A policeman stopped him for speeding. When he asked for Pete's driver's license, he showed a false one. The policeman saw a real estate sign and a lot of other junk in Pete's car and hauled him in for having a false driver's license and for malicious mischief.

Pete pleaded guilty and went to jail for a time. There the sheriff found in Pete's pocket Jones' three checks. Pete had forged the checks and had written in his own name as payee. Pete had carried the checks around for several days, but had not cashed them.

The district attorney charged Pete with possession of forged checks and bills and convicted him under a new law. If a person has a completed check on him with the intent of using it to defraud another person, he is guilty of crime. Mere possession of such a false check becomes a crime.

How can the court know that the thief meant to pass the check? By what he does: Did he fill it out? Did he endorse it? Has he done other things so that he could cash it later?

A finder of valuable property can't just keep it. Legally, he should seek the owner, or turn it over to the police. Sometimes the finder has a duty to advertise for the owner. Only if no one claims the property after a time, may the finder keep it.

It is also theft knowingly to keep property not yours, such as a gain due to a bank's favorable mistake.

Some kinds of found property is truly abandoned. The finder can keep things that have no value, which somebody has left somewhere.

The state has several laws on its books about property left in banks, corporation accounts, stored in warehouse, etc. From time to time these businesses must report to the state on this property. After a time, the state then seeks the owners. If no owner claims it, the state acquires the property.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

READ THE TRUTH ABOUT "OWN YOUR OWN" COMMUNITY APARTMENTS

Town House
ANOTHER MUDGETT-TAYLOR QUALITY DEVELOPMENT
810 Lighthouse Avenue
Pacific Grove, California 93950

February 21, 1964

Dear Monterey Peninsula Resident:

A NEW way of living has come to the peninsula - "Own-your-own" community apartment home living.

We want you to know the FACTS regarding this new way of living in general and regarding the TOWN HOUSE in particular. The real purpose of this letter is to answer many of the questions which are asked by those who visit the "TOWN HOUSE".

The first thing most folks ask is whether or not they could sell or lease the apartment residence if it were ever desirable to do so. The answer is that you most certainly CAN. This is property which you own by means of a GRANT DEED, insured by a policy of TITLE INSURANCE. It is property which may be sold, leased, or left to heirs just as other real estate.

Another question which is on everyone's mind is with regard to the management arrangements and the method of handling the maintenance costs. Briefly, it is this: the association of owners (each apartment having one vote) elects three of the owners to serve as a board of governors. This board, acting for the owners as a whole, assumes the management responsibilities. Each of the apartment owners pays into the association account a predetermined, nominal monthly charge. This is for the purpose of paying the property taxes, insurance, janitor service, gardening, elevator maintenance, building maintenance, house lights, etc. A little simple arithmetic will convince you that it is considerably less expensive to pay the monthly charge in connection with the apartment home, than to maintain a house of equal value.

Some people have had the idea that there is the risk that one owner might have to pay costs relating to another owner's apartment home. This is decidedly NOT the case. There is NO blanket mortgage on the building, so your responsibility extends only to your own apartment home. Others have questioned whether, until all the apartment homes are sold, the ones having bought might incur additional costs. The FACT is that the builders are responsible for the unsold apartments, just as a builder of a tract of homes would be.

Although we have referred to "own-your-own" community apartment living as being a relatively new thing, the fact is that it has already proved itself to be a grand way of life for many people in many other areas. This type development is widely understood and accepted in such areas as the San Francisco Bay region, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Laguna Beach, La Jolla, Phoenix, as well as Florida and many east coast cities.

This is adult living. There is no provision made for youngsters. Its greatest appeal is for the couple or individual who has outgrown the need for a large house and yard with the attendant expenses and responsibilities. This way of life enables such persons to continue to be home owners, while enjoying the many conveniences and economies of delightful apartment living. It has proved to be the answer for many people. Perhaps it is for YOU.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

"A Utopia Is Turning Into Paradise Lost — WHAT ARE THEY DOING IN BIG SUR?" by William Trombley, an article which appeared in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post, created quite a stir among the folk of Big Sur, and environs, especially so since in these parts the residents, old and new, are very much a part of everyday events which include countless good, kind, unselfish and out-standing accomplishments. At this writing there are scores of Big Surites, teachers, inn-keepers, store-keepers, musicians, artists, writers working unselfishly and joyously, preparing for the annual (the thirteenth season) Big Sur Revue, an extraordinary colorful and delightful variety show, which plays one long week-end, each spring, to a "sold-out" house. There are many unsung heroes in the majestic Sur Country that assist in the rescue of foolish and/or innocent persons who become stranded on the rugged coastal cliffs. These rescues are not isolated incidents but frequent occurrences that are performed because of the warm, unselfish feeling residents in this country have for their fellow man. There is the inn-keeper who gave a holiday dinner to include members of the Forest Service, the Highway Department, the Navy Facility, and others who might not otherwise have been a part of a family gathering during that special season. An artist who sold a collection of pictures and gave the proceeds to help the family of a little child that has suffered a long illness. The Big Sur Round-up, the monthly newspaper, published for more than eight years by members of the Grange and their friends, entirely on a donation basis, records an endless flow of good and wholesome happenings among the individuals that make up the warp and woof of the community. At least one individual discussed in the Post Article took the time to answer "What Are They Doing In Big Sur?"

To the Editors of Post Magazine, 666 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York, 10019 "Big Sur, its death and disfiguration, as seen by your fair and airy William Trombley shows clearly Mr. Trombley's own handicaps in dealing with contemporary 20th century living. Insincerity, over dramatization of questionable facts, mis-quotes, mis-spelling, mis-captions and basically a mistake.

"One realizes he has a job to do, but good reporting must show some objective honesty and an attempt at least for accuracy. His does not. He cannot support his implications and insinuations. This is a shame, because it reflects the poor judgment and taste of Post magazine.

"A utopia is classically described as an imaginary island of an ideally perfect social and political life. Big Sur has never made that claim. Big Sur is a community composed of people, and as we know, people are composed of the same elements, physical and psychological anywhere in our society. Nor is Big Sur a paradise lost, nor is Mr. Trombley near to being John Milton.

"May I make one correction, also, aside from being generally misquoted, I would appreciate the corrected spelling of our company, it is the Ananga-Ranga Trading Company, and the address is not Big Sur but Post Office Box 1568, Monterey, California.

"Thank you, In Deepest sympathy, Caryl Hill, Ananga-Ranga Trading Company."

The Owen Span program, originating from Radio Station KGO San Francisco, will, next week, devote an half hour to the subject of "What Is Happening in Big Sur" to its people, to its community, to its country. The date and hour of this program will be announced in these columns next week.

For thirty-six members of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club, Saturday was a most pleasant day as they hiked together over twelve miles of trail in the Upper Palo Colorado region. The hike began at Bouchers Gap, then over Skinner's Ridge, through several miles of magnificent madrone forests, down to Apple Creek and Turner Creek Camps and out along the Rocky Creek Trail to their waiting cars. For twelve of the more venturesome, there was an additional few miles hike to the top of Devil's Peak at about 4150' elevation. Leader for the trip, was Ruth Albee of Carmel.

The high grade deposits of asbestos-bearing ore located near Copperopolis were first discovered in 1905.

Howard Welch, a long time favorite with the audiences of the Big Sur Potluck Revue, is among the cast of exclusively Big Sur talent, who will present the thirteenth annual showing of the Revue at the Big Sur Grange Hall, March 19-22 at 8:30 P.M. For tickets telephone Marty Hartmann, Big Sur 2525, between 10:00 and 5:00. Jeradine Lamb Photo
